Section I. Inter-State elements

1. Account of measures to prevent and combat terrorism

1.1 To which agreements and arrangements (universal, regional, sub-regional and bilateral) related to preventing and combating terrorism is your State a party?

Hungary condemns all acts of terrorism whatever their motives are and is not willing to make any kind of concession to terrorists and is committed to ensuring that terrorists do not benefit from their acts.

To this end, Hungary works together bilaterally with other governments and multilaterally through international organisations such as the United Nations (UN), the Council of Europe, the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) and the European Union (EU).

1. The 1995 Europol Agreement (announced by the Act XIV of 2006);

These agreements, inter alia, allow for the exchange of information and intelligence between law enforcement authorities, in order to strengthen the co-operation in the fight against terrorism.

Bilateral Agreements:

As Hungary is a committed participant of the fight against terrorism, several bilateral agreements have been concluded with other states on cooperation to fight against terrorism, organized crime and illicit trafficking of drugs in the last decade. Among others, Hungary has bilateral agreements in this field with Albania, Austria, Belgium, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, China, Cyprus, the Czech Republic, Egypt, Estonia, France, Greece, Croatia, the United Kingdom, the United States, Ukraine, Ireland, Israel, Jordan, Kazakhstan, Kuwait, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Italy, Malta, Morocco, the Netherlands, Romania, Russia, Slovenia, Slovakia, South-Africa, Serbia, Switzerland, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, Tunisia and Vietnam, Moldova.

1.2 What national legislation has been adopted in your State to implement the above-mentioned agreements and arrangements?

The agreements at paragraph 1.1 have been promulgated in Hungarian legislation (see above, the number of Act of Parliament, following the names of the agreements, in brackets.).

According to Article 36 of Act CXIII of 2011 on the national defence and the Hungarian Defence Forces (hereinafter HDF) and on specific measures may be implemented in case of special legislation (hereinafter National Defence Act CXIII of 2011), participation in military tasks of combat against international terrorism is one of the tasks of the HDF.

As the basic legal document of the European Union, the Lisbon Treaty (promulgated by Act CLXVIII of 2007) entered into force in Hungary on 1st December 2009; all its provisions - including those dealing with the prevention and suppression of terrorism, cooperation in this field, active solidarity with the attacked - are to be implemented by different internal legislative measures.

1.3 What are the roles and missions of military, paramilitary and security forces and the police in preventing and combating terrorism in your State?

The prevention and combating terrorism in peacetime is primarily the responsibility of the Ministry of Interior of Hungary.

The HDF may participate in certain counter-terrorism tasks of the Police and other Ministry of Interior's organizations only in a declared emergency situation, if the situation could not be properly handled by the aforementioned primarily responsible organizations.

1.4 Provide any additional relevant information on national efforts to prevent and combat terrorism, e.g., those pertaining inter alia to:

- Financing of terrorism;
- Border controls;
- Travel document security;
- Container and supply chain security;
- Security of radioactive sources;
- Use of the Internet and other information networks for terrorist purposes;
- Legal co-operation including extradition;
- Safe havens and shelter to terrorists and terrorist organizations

- Articles 314-318 of Act C of 2012 on Criminal Code define the terrorist act and criminalizing terrorist activities such as omission of prosecuting of terrorist act or financing of terrorism.
- Other criminal law regulations also have specific rules in relation to terrorist activities and the perpetrators thereof;
- Act CXXXVI of 2007 on Obstruction and Prevention the Financing of Terrorism and Money laundering.
- Act V of 2014 on promulgation of Convention on Commerce in Arms
- The Act CXXV of 1995 on National Security Services also contains provisions in relation to counter-terrorist activities;
- Anti-terrorism National Action Plan, Enclosure 1 to the Governmental Decree 2112 of 2004 on Actual Assignments of Fight Against Terrorism;

- Government decree about the authorisation of the export, import, transfer and transit of military equipment and services, and certification of enterprises.
- Government decree about the detailed rules of authorisation of military goods' production and provision of military services.

2. Stationing of armed forces on foreign territory

2.1 Provide information on stationing of your States armed forces on the territory of other participating States in accordance with freely negotiated agreements as well as in accordance with international law.

Hungary is a Party to the Agreement between the Parties to the North Atlantic Treaty regarding the Status of their Forces, signed in London on 19 June 1951 (ratified and promulgated by Act CXVII of 1999), and to the Agreement among the States Parties to the North Atlantic Treaty and the other States participating in the Partnership for Peace (PfP), done in Brussels on 19 June 1995 (ratified and promulgated by Act CII of 1995). The implementation is facilitated by Act LXVII of 1995 on the implementation and codification of the Framework Agreement of the Partnership for Peace Program concluded with the NATO. These international agreements and the related national acts provide for the settling of problems arising during stationing and transit of forces on the territory of NATO and PfP countries.

In the field of stationing, the Government of Hungary concluded a bilateral Agreement in 1997 with the Government of the United States of America on the activity of the Armed Forces of the United States of America to be carried out in the territory of Hungary (Act XLIX of 1997) which regulates the legal status of the American military personnel in Hungary thus further articulates the provisions of the NATO SOFA.

The Fundamental Law of Hungary (entered into force 01 January 2012) regulates the stationing. The Fundamental Law reserves the prerogative for the Parliament to decide on the stationing of the Hungarian armed forces or the stationing of foreign forces if these are not based on NATO or EU decisions.

According to Article 47:

„(1) The Government shall decide on any cross-border manoeuvre of the Hungarian Defence Forces and foreign armed forces.

(2) With a two-thirds majority of the votes of its members present, Parliament shall decide on any foreign or domestic deployment and foreign stationing of the Hungarian Defence Forces and on any deployment of foreign armed forces in Hungary or departing from Hungary or their stationing in Hungary, except for the cases defined by Paragraph (3).

(3) The Government shall decide on any deployment of the Hungarian Defence Forces and foreign armed forces under Paragraph (2) based on the decision of the European Union and the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation, and on any other manoeuvre of the same.

(4) The Government shall immediately report to Parliament, and notify the President of the Republic of, any decision made under Paragraph (3) or made to authorise the participation of the Hungarian Defence Forces in any peacekeeping or humanitarian activity in a foreign operational area.”

The definition of stationing is specified by the National Defence Act CXIII of 2011. According to this definition, stationing is a lasting foreign presence of the HDF – or in the case of foreign armed forces' presence on the territory of Hungary – exceeding the time necessary for the units to pass through the country as well as the period of an exercise and the border crossing related to it. The troop movements as well as the military movements are permitted by the Government in a resolution. The 190/2000 (XI. 14.) Decree of the Government on 'The governmental tasks in the approval of troop movements involving border-crossing' gives the detailed definition of troop movements. The 190/2000 Decree of Government is also applicable to the preparation process regarding the Parliament's decision. According to the Decree the Minister of Defence not later than 15 December each year submits the list of troop movements planned for the following year – in order to obtain decision – to the Government. This list includes the troop movements to be submitted to the Parliament as well, although not the Government will decide in this case.

In the reporting year, the HDF participated in the following international operations and missions on the soils of other OSCE participating States:

- NATO HQ-Sarajevo (NATO-led operation);
- EUFOR ALTHEA in Bosnia and Herzegovina (EU-led mission);
- EU Monitoring Mission in the Republic of Georgia (EU-led mission);
- UNFICYP in the Republic of Cyprus (UN led mission);

In the reporting year, the HDF participated in the following international operations and missions:

- ISAF and NTM-A missions in Afghanistan (NATO-led operations);
- KFOR in Kosovo (NATO-led operation);
- EUTM Somalia (EU-led mission);
- EUSECRD Congo (EU-led mission);
- EUTM Mali (EU-led mission);
- UNIFIL mission in Lebanon (UN-led mission);
- MINURSO in Western Sahara (UN-led mission);
- Multinational Forces and Observers on the Sinai Peninsula (MFO-led)
- EUFOR RCA mission in the Republic of Central Africa (EU-led mission)

3. Implementation of other international commitments related to the Code of Conduct

3.1 Provide information on how your State ensures that commitments in the field of arms control, disarmament and confidence- and security-building as an element of indivisible security are implemented in good faith.

Beyond the provisions of the Treaty on Conventional Armed Forces in Europe, Hungary provides information on all changes of the Treaty limited equipment and permanently notifies reduction activities.

Hungary offers four extra Vienna Document 2011 Evaluation Visit quotas to the Participating States in order to provide greater transparency.

In accordance with the provisions of Vienna Document 2011, inspectors conducting Specified Area Inspection are always offered the possibility to visit the units within the area. They receive information on the units' designation, peacetime location, subordination, personnel strength, equipment, training- and firing ranges, current activities and their questions are openly answered.

3.2 Provide information on how your State pursues arms control, disarmament and confidence- and security-building measures with a view to enhancing security and stability in the OSCE area.

Based on Chapter X. "REGIONAL MEASURES" of the Vienna Document 1999, Hungary established bilateral agreements with Ukraine and Serbia, and bilateral cooperation with Montenegro and Cyprus. In the framework of these agreements and cooperation, the Participating States have additional possibilities to conduct inspections within a specified area, evaluation visits and to invite representatives to observe certain military activities below VD 2011 thresholds.

Section II.

1. National planning and decision-making process

1.1 what is the national planning and decision making process in determining/approving military posture and defence expenditures in your State?

the military posture:

Defence is a national priority. National Defence Act CXIII of 2011 contains detailed provisions concerning the role of the Parliament, the Committee on Defence and Law Enforcement of the Parliament, the President of the Republic, the Government, the Minister of Defence, the Minister of Justice, the Minister of Interior, the Minister of National Economy and other Ministers and heads of national authorities are in the control of national defence.

Based on the proposals submitted by the Government, the Parliament determines the basic principles of national defence in order to fulfil the defence objectives, as well as the conditions and direction of the accomplishment of duties prescribed in them, the guidelines of the long term upgrade and personal strength of the armed forces, the main military equipment upgrades and the required financial resources. The President of the Republic approves the armed defence plan proposed by the Government and prepared by the Ministry of Defence. The Government is responsible for the determination of the duties of the authorities participating in national defence and for the co-ordination of the work of the ministries and other national authorities. The Minister of Defence, as a member of the Government, is responsible for the implementation of defence policy. It is the responsibility of the Minister and the Ministry of Defence to prepare and arrange plans for the development, preparation, equipment and deployment of the defence forces. The decision-making capacity of the Ministry and the Minister of Defence is restricted by law.

Defence expenditures are determined as a part of the central budget of Hungary. The annual budget proposal concerning defence expenditures is compiled along the lines of a Planning Document published by the Ministry of National Economy. The Central Budget Act is submitted to the Parliament where it is discussed in the appropriate committees and at plenary sessions of the House. After considering amendment proposals, the Parliament approves the defence budget as a chapter of the Central Budget Act. In line with the Defence Investment Pledge of the Heads of States and Governments at the Wales NATO Summit, Hungary has already begun increasing the defence budget in 2015, by increasing it around 8%. The basis for further increase was set in the 1046/2012 Governmental Resolution, ensuring a yearly 0,1% GDP proportion increase of defence budget between 2016-2022; however, responding to the changing security environment, additional central funds are expected for specific military tasks above this level.

1.2 How does your State ensure that its military capabilities take into account the legitimate security concerns of other States as well as the need to contribute to international security and stability?

The Government of Hungary considers NATO as the cornerstone of Trans-Atlantic security. A dynamic development of the EU's Common Security and Defence Policy is within the interest of Hungary, and at the same time, we are strengthening the strategic partnership between EU and NATO. Hungary is a constructive member of the European Union and NATO. An important task of the Hungarian defence policy is to support new member countries and those with a chance for integration. Therefore, extending - and increasing the efficiency of - bilateral and multilateral military cooperation with neighbouring countries is in the strategic interest of Hungary. In the framework of V4 cooperation and the Central European Defence Cooperation (CEDC), Hungary and the other participating states promote defence cooperation amongst each other to contribute to a peaceful Central Europe. In addition to the pre-eminent role of the United Nations (UN), Hungary attaches great importance to the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) from the aspect of maintaining international peace and security, and participates in the actions and international operations conducted by these organizations.

2. Existing structures and processes

2.1 What are the constitutionally established procedures for ensuring democratic political control of military, paramilitary and internal security forces, intelligence services and the police?

armed forces

As of 1 September 2001, the General Staff was integrated into the Ministry of Defence. The Chief of Defence heads the General Staff, at the same time is the highest military commander of the HDF, but is subordinated to the Minister of Defence as his/her supreme military advisor with reporting and informing obligation. The Fundamental Law of Hungary and the National Defence Act CXIII of 2011 prescribe wide-ranging obligations for the Minister and the Government to inform and report to the plenary session and the Defence and Internal Security Committee of the Parliament, which completes the effectiveness of democratic control. Defence expenditures are approved by the Parliament as a chapter of the annual Central Budget Act.

paramilitary forces

Hungary does not have paramilitary forces.

internal security forces

Hungary has no internal security forces

intelligence services

Hungary has four national security services. The statutory basis for all the four bodies is the Act CXXV of 1995 on National Security Services. The national security services specified by the National Security Act are the Information Office, the Constitution Protection Office, the Special Service for National Security (hereinafter: civil security services) and the Military National Security Service.

All national security services are organisations operating with independent budget and nationwide jurisdiction under the direction of the Government. As budget planning authorities, all of them are authorized to make their own decisions on the application of the material and financial resources allocated to them.

The governmental direction of the national security services is exercised through a designated Minister (Minister of State heading the Prime Minister's Office for the Information Office; Minister of Interior for the Constitution Protection Office and the Special Service for National Security; Minister of Defence for the Military National Security Service).

The Parliament exercises oversight over all the national security services through its Committee on National Security (NSC). The chairman of the Committee on National Security - according to the Fundamental Law of Hungary - is always an MP of an opposition party.

The civil security services are merely accountable to the Committee on National Security, while both parliamentary committees (CNS, Committee on Defence and Law Enforcement) are competent authorities concerning the Military National Security Service.

The national security services may carry out concealed information collection activities and use secret methods, in certain cases subject to external authorisation granted by a judge or the Minister of Justice.

There are additional methods of the parliamentary control that are exercised by the Ombudsman. The previous Office of the Parliamentary Commissioner – including the Office of the Parliamentary Commissioner for Citizen Rights, the Office of the Parliamentary Commissioner for National and Ethnic Minorities Rights, and the Office of the Parliamentary Commissioner for Future Generations – was replaced by the Office of the Commissioner for Fundamental Rights, by the new Act CXI of 2011, as of 01 January 2012.

Democratic control of the police (including the border guard, which was integrated into the police structure in 2007) ensured by the Fundamental Law of Hungary. According to the Fundamental Law of Hungary, the basic task of the police is to protect internal security and public order. The border guard in their policing duty provide for the protection of the national border, the control of border traffic and the maintenance of order on the borders. It has been granted by the adoption of Act XXXIV of 1994 on the Police that ensures its oversight by the Parliament, local governments and the public.

The Minister of Interior as a member of the Government is accountable to the Parliament for all issues concerning the police and the border guard. The Minister accounts to the Parliament including appearance, as requested before the plenary session of the Parliament and before the relevant parliamentary committees. The Parliament accepts the budget of the police and the border guard annually in separate titles under the chapter of the Ministry of Interior.

According to section 4 of paragraph 8 of the Act on The Police, the head of the local police on demand reports annually to the local governing authority (council) on the public safety situation of the area of jurisdiction, on measures taken to the benefit of public safety, on the duties connected as well as relations between the police and the local council. The Act on the Police provides numerous other opportunities for the co-operation of the police and the local government:

- The body of representatives can make observations concerning the decisions, measures of the police or their omission;
- The local government can conclude contracts with the head of local council especially to perform duties concerning the local public security to enhance the co-operation between local authorities and the police to establish, enlarge and upgrade the local police;
- The heads of the local police and the local government can establish a crime prevention and public safety committee to assist and oversee the duties connected to public safety;

2.2 How is the fulfilment of these procedures ensured, and which constitutionally established authorities/institutions are responsible for exercising these procedures?

The Supreme Commander of the Armed Forces is the President of the Republic. In war time, the National Defence Committee is to be established, which is headed by the President of the Republic, and consists of the Speaker of the Parliament, the Prime Minister, the ministers, the leaders of the parties represented in the Parliament and the Chief of General Staff with the right of consultation.

2.3 What are the roles and missions of military, paramilitary and security forces, and how does your State control that such forces act solely within the constitutional framework?

The mission of the armed forces is to defend the territory, independence, citizens and material wealth of the country against external attack, to guard and defend the borders of the country, to fulfil military obligations deriving from alliance and international agreements, to participate in international crisis management efforts, guard installations of defence importance that require enhanced protection, accomplish civil protection tasks, disaster relief, provide humanitarian aid/relief, etc. The Government and the Ministry of Defence are subject to the authorisation, control and reporting provisions defined by the Fundamental Law of Hungary and National Defence Act CXIII of 2011; these regulations ensure that the military acts solely within the framework of the Fundamental Law of Hungary.

paramilitary forces

Hungary does not have paramilitary forces.

security forces

Hungary does not have internal security forces.

3. Procedures related to different forces' personnel

3.1 What kind of procedures for recruitment and call-up of personnel for service in your military, paramilitary and internal security forces does your State have?

- military

The general compulsory conscript system – except in emergency situation and in preventive defence situation – has been suspended in Hungary since November 2004.

According to the National Defence Act CXIII of 2011, active military service personnel include professional, contract and voluntary reservist soldiers in peacetime. The introduction of the voluntary reserve system is an ongoing process. 8000 voluntary reserve statuses have been built up. The voluntary reserve system consists of two elements: voluntary defence reserve, and voluntary operation reserve. These statuses are for peace time and wartime tasks as well. The voluntary defence and operation reservists have the same limit for service age as the professional officers for active military duty

The other two categories of the reserve system are the trained reserve and the potential reserve (which are compulsory conscripts when it is re-established) for the war time readiness only. Any Hungarian citizen who is a graduate of a civilian or military secondary school can voluntarily apply for a professional officer rank in military service. The contract soldier serves professionally and voluntarily for a definite period of time. Currently professional and contracted soldiers and voluntary reservists serve in the HDF.

According to the Act CXCIX of 2011 on Civil Servants, which regulates the employment of civil servants in the ministerial structure, there is not any distinction based on gender. There is special regulation due to maternity in favour of women.

- paramilitary forces

Hungary does not have paramilitary forces.

- security forces

Hungary does not have internal security forces.

3.2 What kind of exemptions or alternatives to military service does your State have?

National Defence Act CXIII of 2011 determines the cases of exemptions from military service:

Exemptions from military service e.g. (Article 5)

- the person is under 18 years of age;
- the person is not capable for military service; the person takes care of three or more children, or takes care his/her relative alone, or provides for his/her child under 18 years of age alone; or takes care of his/her relative in the direct ascending line or spouse, unmarried partner reliant on care alone;

- the person takes care of his/her dependants living in his/her household alone;
- professional or contracted soldier of the HDF, or the Police;
- person whose spouse carries out military service;
- the person has accomplished the civilian service,
- the person has been registered as candidate for parliamentary, European parliamentary, municipal representative, mayor, minority representative or elected as such (until the duration of nomination or mandate expires);
- on the 31st day December of the year in which the person who is potential for military service reaches the age of 40.

The HDF started to set up a Volunteer Reserve Force in 2010 with the authorization of the Parliament.

Before this decision, the HDF had very few soldiers in reserve. The major step towards setting up a reservist system was taken when the National Defence Act CV of 2004 was replaced by National Defence Act CXIII of 2011.

The National Defence Act has new elements in other fields as well (defence university, elements of legal status of the personnel, re-introduction of administrative secretary and deputy secretary positions, structure of the General Staff, means of regulation etc.), as a result of the new governmental structure set up by different new acts, following the parliamentary elections of 2010.

The military training of the reservists had already started in November 2011. The new type of Volunteer Reserve System was officially established in Hungary on 1 January, 2011. The recruitment of reservists started at the end of 2010, when the number of reservists guarding the HDF objects increased to over two thousands. Security guards changed their legal status to voluntary defence reservist at fifty-seven objects and military compounds of the HDF.

By setting up this volunteer reserve system, disaster recovery tasks and protection of the military 'critical infrastructure' can be effectively accomplished. In emergency situations the reservists can be deployed immediately. Moreover, they can carry out host nation support tasks. Force protection capabilities will also be improved in Hungary with their help. The red sludge disaster and floods in Hungary revealed that there was a great need for reservists by 2010. By setting up a reserve system, HDF is able to accomplish disaster management more effectively.

Introducing the system, Hungary has taken an important step to fulfil its commitments to the EU and NATO.

3.3 What are the legal and administrative procedures to protect the rights of all forces personnel as well as conscripts?

Members of the armed forces have similar legal and administrative procedures and opportunities to protect their rights to those of civilians'. Additional regulations mentioned before contain measures of guarantees and remedial procedures to enforce their rights in special situations related to actions in service.

These regulations are incorporated in acts of Parliament, such as the Act CCV of 2012 on the Status of Military Personnel (hereinafter: Status Act), which provide for the protection of rights within the forces and by civilian organisations outside the forces and the right to appeal to courts as well. This Act ensures the right for the organised way of protecting rights through trade unions and representation of interests.

Personnel of the HDF consist of career and contract soldiers, voluntary reservists, officer cadets and non-commissioned officer cadets, government officials and public servants. The pay rates of the military and civilian staff of the HDF are defined in the relevant laws on their legal status. These laws are promulgated in the Official Gazette of Hungary, i.e. they are available for the public. All payments and allowances are defined and paid according to legislative regulations applicable to the above-mentioned forms of employment, which precisely determine all relevant details of the payment process, of salaries and other allowances including the amount and deadline of payment.

4. Implementation of other political norms, principles, decisions and international humanitarian law

4.1 How does your State ensure that International Humanitarian Law and Law of War are made widely available, e.g., through military training programmes and regulations?

Pursuant to the Geneva Conventions of 1949, the HDF implement the dissemination of the Geneva Conventions as well as other applicable rules of international humanitarian law. The training programs vary based on the age, qualifications, rank and responsibilities of the trainees. In military higher education, there are various levels of training programs, including undergraduate and postgraduate programs, reserve officers' training courses, BSc and MSc levels, accordingly to the Bologna process. The curriculum of these is organized to provide an extensive understanding of the rules of the armed conflicts.

At the university level, students take separate courses dedicated to international law and the rules of the armed conflicts. In addition, special courses for high-ranking military officers focus on the theoretical questions of security policy and national security, including the enforceability of the rules of the armed conflicts and the role of senior officers in their enforcement.

The ministries concerned with the issues of international humanitarian law have regular contacts with each other, and have close relations with other governmental or non-governmental organisations such as the National Advisory Committee on the Dissemination of the International Humanitarian Law, the Hungarian Society of Military Law and the Law of War and the Hungarian Red Cross.

MoD has special legal advisors and experts on international humanitarian law and they advocate the Minister and Chief of Staff.

4.2 What has been done to ensure that armed forces personnel are aware of being individually accountable under national and international law for their actions?

Due to the transformation of basic training centres, the basic training program has changed partially in content and partially methodologically. Under the new program the trainees become acquainted with the basic rules of the battlefield, with special emphasis on the rules concerning the protection of civilian population and prisoners of war. Each trainee is given by eight hours embedded in curriculum on International Humanitarian Law and Law of War during basic training. An extract of International Humanitarian Law and Law of War – as an enclosure – is a part of the Service Field Manual of HDF, thus the opportunity to be elaborated in the topic is widely available for all soldiers.

Moreover all Hungarian soldiers sent to missions abroad are given extra hours (3-6, depending on the kind of the mission) on the topic mentioned above during the preparation term, focusing mainly on the Rules of Engagement.

The Status Act CCV of 2012 and Defence Ministerial Decree No. 9/2013 and No. 10/2013 regulate the individual legal liability of armed forces personnel regarding disciplinary and damages liability.

4.3 How does your State ensure that armed forces are not used to limit the peaceful and lawful exercise of human and civil rights by persons as individuals or as representatives of groups nor to deprive them of national, religious, cultural, linguistic or ethnic identity?

According to the Fundamental Law of Hungary, the armed forces may be used, if the use of the police is proven insufficient in the case of state of emergency (in the event of armed acts aimed at the overturning of the constitutional order or at the exclusive acquisition of power, and of serious mass acts of violence threatening life and property, committed with arms or in an armed manner) (Article 48 and 50 of the Fundamental Law).

4.4 What has been done to provide for the individual service member's exercise of his or her civil rights and how does your State ensure that the country's armed forces are politically neutral?

The Fundamental Law of Hungary regulates that professional members of the HDF, the Police and the national security services may not be members of political parties and may not engage in political activities. Restrictions on the political activities of non-professional members of the HDF may be established by a statute passed by a majority of two-thirds of the votes of the Members of Parliament present.

The Status Act CCV of 2012 regulates the fundamental rights of military personnel and the limitation of their rights e.g. the practice of the right of assembly subjects to the permission of employer. The Status Act and other ministerial decrees, orders provide the legal provisions in order to maintain the political neutrality of military command and armed forces as an institution.

4.5 How does your State ensure that its defence policy and doctrine are consistent with international law?

According to the Fundamental Law of Hungary, the legal system of Hungary adopts the generally recognized rules of international law, and shall further ensure the harmony between domestic law and the obligations assumed under international law.

National Defence Act CXIII of 2011 provides in its preamble a reference to UN and also provides that one of the tasks of the defence forces is the performance of obligations following from alliance and other international treaties, especially collective defence, peacekeeping and humanitarian missions.

Section IV

Issues pertaining to women, peace and security

1. Prevention

1.1 Measures to increase armed forces personnel understanding of the special needs and contributions of women in conflict

Considering peacekeeping training, gender issues are part of the pre-deployment training for all Hungarian military leaders and soldiers before deployment. Gender issues are incorporated into the CIMIC and human rights courses as part of the pre-deployment training. Gender issues will become part of the commanders' training regarding to operational trainings. Gender training for international soldiers were planned to be organized by CIMIC units but the training was cancelled due to financial restrictions.

In any case of gender discrimination or sexual harassment, female soldiers have the opportunity to appeal to legal officers or to the Committee on Women of the HDF.

1.2. Measures to address the violation of the rights of women and girls, in line with international standards

The Hungarian Ministry of Defence accepts and follows the recommendations of UNSCR 1325, 1820 and 1960. Issues concerning equal treatment and gender equality are involved in fundamental documents of recruitment, training and employment. In accordance with the Act CXXV of 2003 on equal treatment and the promotion of equal opportunities, selection, employment, payment and promotion of female soldiers is based on same expectations as in the case of male soldiers. Further documents focus on the rights and obligations, norms and standards of conduct for both sexes are the following:

- Act CCV of 2012 on the status of soldiers of the HDF and the Decree no. 9/2013 (VIII. 12.) of the Minister of Defence on the Implementation of the Act CCV of 2012;
- Act CXIII of 2011 on National Defence, the HDF, and the measures to implement in special legal orders [Defence Act];
- Decree no. 24/2005 (VI.30.) of the Minister of Defence on issuing the service regulations of the HDF;
- Order no. 67/2003 (HK 18.) of the Minister of Defence on publication of the Military Ethics Codex and establishment of the Military Ethics Council.

The Ministry of Defence (as well as every military organization) prepared an equality plan by the Order no. 5/2013. (I. 21) of the Minister of Defence. Furthermore, equality rapporteurs operate in the MoD as well in military departments and army bases. Training and monitoring of equality rapporteurs are coordinated by the equality rapporteur of the MoD. Issues concerning gender equality are monitored and coordinated by the Committee on Women of the HDF founded in 2003.

The Hungarian Ministry of Defence has not prepared a dedicated gender strategy yet. Gender issues in the HDF are developing gradually. We have achieved good development in some areas (CIMIC, PSYOPS). Further development is possible in case of intensive gender training and education.

2. Participation

2.1 Measures to increase the number of women in general and in decision-making positions in the armed forces and the ministry of defence

Due to the high number of female soldiers in the HDF (20%.) gender issues remain important topics. As on 1 March 2015, there are 3487 servicewomen in the HDF. This strength involves professional (56%) and contracted (44%) troops. Focusing on ranks, there are 1062 female officers, while number of non-commissioned officers is 1982. Rank-and-file HDF members consist of 443 crews.

Due to the high number of female soldiers in the HDF, which marks the general popularity of military profession among women, there is no need to target ladies via special campaigns. Nevertheless such initiatives as accredited teaching programs for pupils and students called „KatonaSuli” (School on Military Issues) or lectures, training programs about the HDF organized for secondary grammar schools and universities might foster young women to join the HDF. Online magazine (www.honvedelem.hu) and its English version (www.hungariandefence.com), related presence in social media (Facebook, Twitter) and „Open Days” of military bases also helps to reach female candidates.

Number and percentage of international missions where gender advisors were appointed

Special gender advisors were not appointed in international missions. Nevertheless, operational part of gender issues is included in CIMIC annex. Female soldiers played an important role in Afghanistan, in the work of the Provincial Reconstruction Team of Baghlan province. Hungarian female soldiers were responsible for keeping contact with local women community, and they were accepted among Afghan people. Female soldiers actively get in contact with local women organizations, associations in EU and UN missions as well.
